Teaching for one Torrance instructor is a year around job with no three month summer vacation.

Mrs. Patricia Freeman is director of the school district's child care center where she cares for 125 youngsters Monday through Friday 52 weeks a year.

Administered by the school district for the state, the program is aimed primarily at one-parent families meeting specific income requirements.

TORRANCE'S CHILD care center is one of 233 located in 47 school districts in 19 counties which care for a total of 25,000 children a year.

Activities at the center range from sandpainting to puppet shows. When older students recently witnessed a carnival during a visit to Torrance Park, they decided to put on a carnival of their own for the new kindergarten youngsters at the center.

For one week they planned the event, brought materials and toys from home to donate and setup booths. The day of the carnival they manned the booths and gave out paper "tickets." Included in the booths were coin toss, bean bag throw, hit the nail, hit the cans, ring toss, grab bag and fishing.

Future plans include a picnic hike to Torrance Park.
